Learning goal

My learning goal was to learn how to sew a dress and raise awareness about the bipolar disorder at the same time.

Product goal

My product goal is to raise awareness of Bipolar disorder since it is not speaken about enough.

The main idea/inspiration behind my product was to make something that I could expand my knowledge on. The inspiration came from the fashion industry as it is and the bipolar disorder since it is something close to me.

How successful was it?

My product was successful because I achieved to raise awareness through a dress I sewed. Which I tested that through a survey I send to a few people.

Which disorder do u think this dress represents?
